A Luminous Tree.

One of the most remarkable of trees or shrubs grows near some springs about 12 miles north of Tuscarora. It is six or seven feet high, with a trunk which at its base is three times the size of an ordinary man's wrist. It has numberless branches and twigs, and resembles somewhat the barberry. Its truly wonderful characteristic is its luminosity, which is so great that on the darkest night it C. A. ROBERT, Architect, room 424, Marcan be plainly seen a mile away. A person standing near could read the finest print by its light.

Its foliage is extremely rank, and its leaves resemble somewhat those of the aromatic bay tree in shape, size and color. The luminous property is due to a gummy substance, which can be transferred to the hand by rubbing and with the tranfer the phosphorescent light, while that on the leaf disappears. The luminosity is thought to be due to a parasitic form. The Indians regard it with superstition and will not come near name which means "witch tree."-Horticultural Times.
